SEVERAL CONVICTS NOT ACCOUNTED FOR

At Time of Murder of Miss Parsons, Prison Guard Testifies At Dr. Winnes' Trial

(By Associated Press)
Harlan, Ky., Jan. 27.—Rufus Wilson, guard at the convict camp near the spot where Miss Laura Parsons' body was found last September, was recalled to the stand today in the murder trial of Dr. H. C. Winnes. He admitted he told Sheriff Hunter that all negro convicts were accounted for but Jerry Reed, but he said he later found the movements of several other convicts were not accounted for about the time the murder was committed.

Other witnesses today testified about the mule tracks near the scene of the crime, supposed to have been made by the animal Dr. Winnes rode over the mountain.

A number of character witnesses for Winnes arrived today from Letcher county and Cincinnati. The state expected to rest its case tonight.

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 27.—Discovery by the prosecution of a witness who testified that he had traced tracks of a mule with three good shoes and one apparently worn shoe for 200 yards from the place where the body of Miss Laura Parsons, Pine Mountain settlement school teacher, was found last September, featured the trial Wednesday of Dr. H. C. Winnes, former state veterinarian, charged with the murder of Miss Parsons.

A secondary feature was an announcement from the defense counsel that they would insist upon peremptory instructions for acquittal at the close of the prosecution's testimony.

Louis Fielding, who lives near Dillon, and who has been in the court room listening to the trial of Dr. Winnes, went to Circuit Judge Davis, who is presiding at the hearing, and told him of having traced the mule tracks from where Miss Parsons' body was found. The evidence of Fielding was absolutely new, the prosecution knowing nothing of it. Judge Davis permitted Fielding to appear as a witness, despite the fact that he had been present and listening to the trial.

He said the mule tracks went from the trail into a nearby wood, and that they ended about seventy yards from where the corpse of the murdered teacher was found.

W. H. Boggs, a preacher and also a blacksmith at Dillon, testified that Dr. Winnes rode over the mountains, and also that he had shod six other mules with the same kind of shoes for persons at the convict camp.

The owner of the mule ridden by Dr. Winnes testified that he had three shoes on and one off. In answer to a question concerning the mule's disposition, it having been stressed by the prosecution that Dr. Winnes was beating the mule, the owner said the mule had to be whipped nearly all the time to make him go.

Floyd Baves and J. W. Sizemore, guards at the convict camp, testified concerning the rules governing convicts. John Carter, a lawyer of Harlan county, said that he had found Miss Parsons' purse near her body and that the purse bore indications that there had been a fight.

NEWMAN WANTS SELLING AGENCY
Lexington, Ky., Jan. 26.—J. W. Newman, president of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association, in a statement issued here last night, urged that a selling agency be formed to receive, handle and dispose of the tobacco of every grower who belongs to the growers' association instead of each grower trying to sell it in a contest where he says the buyer has the advantage.

He also urges a curtailment of the 1921 crop under pledges that what is raised will be delivered to the agency when it is able to advance on delivery 50 per cent of its actual value in cash.

Mr. Newman's proposals also include a plan for a meeting of representatives of growers and manufacturers to decide on grades.

BIG BOOZE ROBBERY FOILED AT LEBANON

An attempted theft of two barrels of whiskey from the bonded warehouse of Smith's distillery at Chicago, Marion county, ended in failure Thursday night when the guards at the warehouse discovered the intruders and opened fire, says the Lebanon Falcon. None of the party were wounded, so far as known, but the nocturnal visitors dropped their burden and took to their heels, making good their escape by entering the woods near the warehouse.

Entrance to the warehouse was effected by cutting the staple of the front door, into which the lock fastens by means of a large bolt cutter. Two barrels, each containing about 30 gallons of seven year old whiskey, were taken from the warehouse and had been carried on two long poles for a distance of about thirty yards when the guards discovered the party retreating with the wet goods. One of the guards says there were at least eight men in the party, while the other feels sure there were as many as eleven. W. O. Buckler and Collier Green were the guards on duty at the time.

BOGGS NAMES NEW DISTRICT ENGINEER

Joe S. Boggs, State Highway Engineer, at Frankfort, has redistricted the engineering districts, and T. B. Smith, of Winchester, has charge of the seventh division comprising the counties of Clark, Madison, Powell, Fayette, Montgomery, Bath, Menifee, Wolfe, Morgan, Lee, Breathitt and Knox. The redistricting was done in view that the work of the road department this year will largely be confined to federal aid projects and will be more concentrated in volume.

Division 5, under L. L. Pearsall, of Danville, embraces Boyle, Casey, Clinton, Garrard, Jessamine, Lincoln, Marion, McCreary, Mercer, Nelson, Pulaski, Taylor, Washington and Wayne counties.

Division No. 8, under J. S. Watkins of London, embraces Bell, Clay, Harlan, Jackson, Knox, Laurel, Leslie, Letcher, Owsley, Perry, Rockcastle, and Whitley counties.

BUSINESS ON A FIRMER BASIS

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Jan. 26.—"Only time will tell what may happen to lumber values and building activities during the coming year, but there seems to be general feeling that we are getting down to a solid foundation and business will be established on a firmer basis and with more satisfaction all around us," said J. Crow Taylor of Louisville, secretary of the Kentucky Retail Lumber Association in his report to the organization which opened its annual convention here today. "The general presumption is," he said, "that lumber has now reached low ebb in the point of value and there will be no further depreciation loss and one may buy at the present market value with some assurance of the market value remaining substantial."

Mr. Taylor's report was read at the first session of the convention, which will last through tomorrow.

Following Mr. Taylor's report, Hugh Allen, Middlesboro, president of the association, made his annual address. He was followed by J. R. Downing, vice president of the Citizens' Union Bank of Louisville, who spoke on "Finance."

GRAYSON MARKET CLOSES AT REQUEST OF FARMERS

Grayson, Ky., Jan. 26.—The tobacco market closed here thirty minutes after opening at the request of farmers on account of low prices. The floor was covered with tobacco, 75 wagons were on the street and two cars on the switch ready to be unloaded. Most grades of tobacco are 50 per cent lower than last week.

NEXT LEGISLATURE CLOSE POLITICALLY

Especially In Senate, Is Prediction of Times—In Neighboring Districts

In a story of prospects concerning the political complexion of the next legislature, the Louisville Times said that it appears that control of the next state Senate may be very close, but predicts that the house will reverse itself from the last session and be reliably democratic. There will be no election in the senatorial district of which Madison is a part this year, as Senator Clarence Miller, of Estill county, is a hold-over in this section, the Times said.

The Eighteenth district, now represented by J. W. Harlan, democrat, of Danville, is one which the republicans claim they will carry. This district includes the counties of Boyle and Lincoln both democratic the former heavily so, and Garrard and Casey, the latter two republican, especially so in the case of Casey.

Garrard county is close at times and if the democrats can win there they may re-elect their Senator, as the three counties could outweigh the big republican lead certain to be polled in Lincoln.

Joe Robinson, of Lancaster, probably will be the democratic candidate, though other names have been mentioned, including former Representative J. H. Ballard. It is almost certain that a Garrard county man will get the nomination.

Jessamine county will name the Senator in the Twenty-second district, Jessamine, Scott and Woodford. Dr. T. R. Welch, of Nicholasville, a brother-in-law of Senator Stanley, is the name mentioned in connection with the nomination. He is now Representative from Jessamine, formerly having been Senator.

The Twenty-sixth district, composed of Owen, Boone, Gallatin, Grant and Pendleton, is 3,000 democratic, all five counties being lined up with that party. It is now represented by C. W. Burton of Grant, who recently declared that he voted against Gov. Cox for President and who acted with the republicans at the last session. The Rev. John A. Lee, of Owen, a Baptist minister and Representative at the last session, is mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination. L. C. Littrell, former State Senator, also of Owen, is also mentioned.

In the Twenty-eighth district, (Bourbon, Clark and Montgomery), it has been generally agreed that Henry Caywood, of North Middletown, near Paris, will be the democratic candidate. He is certain of election if nominated. He is extensively engaged in Bourbon county as a cattle buyer.

However doubtful the Senate may be a to complexion, there is little doubt in the minds of most political observers that the next will be democratic. On the basis of last fall's vote, Kentucky would have elected a democratic House by a majority of fifteen or more. Henry R. Lawrence of Cadiz, it is understood, will be a candidate for the House from Trigg county, and is also mentioned for Speaker. Trigg county is extremely politically, but it seems probable that Mr. Lawrence would have little difficulty in winning there. He formerly was Speaker of the Kentucky House.

It is also said that Harry McChesney will represent Franklin county in the lower House at the next session. From the caliber of men being mentioned for the legislature, democratic leaders point out, a ticket of extremely strong candidates is seemingly assured.

ENGLISH AND FRENCH CAN'T AGREE
(By Associated Press)
Paris, Jan. 27.—It is understood today that the British delegates attending the session of the Supreme Allied Council, considered it impossible to agree to the French viewpoint regarding German reparations. The morning session of the council was cancelled in order to give David Lloyd George, British Prime Minister, an opportunity to discuss privately the French position as set forth yesterday by Paul Doumer, French Minister of Finance.

Danish King and Queen Visit England

The arrival of the king and queen of Denmark, accompanied by the Princess Margaret, on the landing stage at Gravesend on the occasion of their recent visit to England. The Princess Margaret, who is twenty-five years old, has been mentioned frequently of late as a prospective bride of the prince of Wales.

OWEN WALKER'S CAR NEARLY BURNS UP

Within an hour after he had returned from Harrodsburg where he was released on bail on charge of shooting a young man at a chicken fight near Shakertown, Owen Walker, well known local colored pool room proprietor, came near losing his automobile by fire. The machine burst into flames a minute or so after he had driven into his garage at his home on Irvine street, but prompt work by the fire department boys and others, put the blaze out after the top had been burned off and the body considerably damaged. Walker said that the machine had heated up considerably in driving over the heavy snow on the roads, but he did not think it dangerous, and expected that it would cool off quickly in the cold air, after the engine had been cut out and it had been housed.

LEGION TEAMS IN FAST GAME TONIGHT

The basket ball game tonight at the Madison gym and the American Legion team of Berea and the team representing the local American Legion post was scheduled at such a late date that very little publicity has been given to it.

Reports came from Berea that some of the best players in both town and college will be over tonight. It is a known fact that Berea has a world of material to select from, and there is not a question but a good team will be on the floor when the whistle sounds at 8 o'clock.

Very little could be learned about the local team's ability. The fact that Coach Hembree, Gentry, Fox, McDougle and other stars of yesterday are on the squad means that the Jesse M. Bykes Post will be heard from tonight.

Games will be scheduled with other legion teams during the winter. When two legion teams hook up regardless of the sport, the fans can always depend upon a real scrap.

Athletic Director Ross, of Berea College, and Prof. Keith, chairman of the Normal athletic committee, will be the officials.

25 HORSES PERISH IN WILMORE FIRE

Nicholasville, Ky., Jan. 27.—Fire originating in a dwelling at Wilmore, six miles south of this city, threatened the entire west portion of the town. One dwelling, stock barn and coal shed were destroyed, and 25 horses perished. The dwelling, owned by Asa Jewell, of Lexington, and occupied by Joe Dulaney and family, was located within 50 feet of U. Southern depot. The blaze spread rapidly and there is no water protection in Wilmore, the large barn and coal shed of McClure & Jewell were soon ablaze. The barn contained a large quantity of feed and about 40 head of horses and mules, owned by Mr. Jewell and Price Penniston. Mr. Jewell is at present on a business trip in North Carolina and up to this time his partner, Mr. Penniston, has been unable to estimate the total loss, one-third of which is covered by insurance. Twenty-five horses perished in the flames. Citizens formed a bucket brigade and saved the dwellings.

TWO REPUBLICANS WANT DRY JOE

Secretary Robert R. Burnham, Jr., of the Madison County Republican Committee, attended a meeting of the 8th District Committee at Danville Monday, when it is understood, that party policies, especially regarding offices soon to be filled by President Harding were discussed considerably. It is also hinted that there is a considerable deficit in the 8th district campaign funds for the last election, and that steps are being taken to make it up.

The Eighth district will probably have several applicants for lucrative federal offices, as well as the usual postmasterhips, it was said at the meeting. It is understood that two prominent republicans of Anderson county, both want to be Federal Prohibition Director for Kentucky, the post now held by Paul Williams, of Henry county. One of them is Thos. F. Ballard, and he is said to have some very substantial endorsements. The Danville Advocate said of him when he was at the meeting there:

Hon. T. J. Ballard, of Lawrenceburg, was in Danville today in the interest of his candidacy for the office of Federal Prohibition Director of Kentucky. Mr. Ballard is one of the best known men of the district; he is a thorough gentleman; a progressive citizen and has ever been a loyal member of his, the republican party. While the Advocate has no voice in these matters, it gives us pleasure to commend to the powers a gentleman of the type of Mr. Ballard for anything he might seek. He is amply qualified for the position he seeks and should be given the appointment he would be a credit to it.

AN UP-TO-DATE MODERN DRUG STORE

Stockton's Drug Store. An Old Established Business With Confidence of Community

An institution that touches many sides of life is the modern drug store. We go there when in need of medicine, for candy on pleasure bent, or for convenience when we need a stamp or use a phone. We like to be on terms of intimate acquaintance with the nearby druggist.

In every community the well ordered pharmacy is a necessity and a skilled pharmacist is a most important factor, but to be of the greatest value the stock must be pure and of high grade quality, also the skill and honesty of the pharmacist unquestioned.

The commercial standing of a city can be easily and accurately gauged by the stores which supply the daily needs of the people. In a prosperous community, where the people have plenty of ready money, the retail stores will be the first concerns to give practical evidence of this fact. This is especially true of drug stores, which resemble banks in this respect—you will never find a good one in a poor town, and vice versa.

Judged by these standards, Richmond ranks high as a progressive metropolis. Few, if any, places within the state contain neater, more commodious or more finely equipped drug stores than does Richmond. Taking rank and standing out as one of the most splendidly appointed and best stocked drug stores in this city or section, is Stockton's drug store, formerly located on the corner of Main and Second streets, but now located in modern quarters at 208 West Main street. This store carries an exceptionally complete and up-to-date

SAYS WALKER SURE TO BE ACQUITTED

He Is Released On $2,000 Bond and Attorneys Say Sentiment There Is For Him

As Roy Robertson, young white man whom he shot at the chicken fight at Shakertown last week, continues to hold his own, and physicians say may now recover, Owen Walker, local colored pool room proprietor, was released upon $2,000 bond by officials of Mercer county at Harrodsburg Wednesday.

Accompanied by his local attorneys, Hons. John Noland and R. C. Oldham, Walker returned to his home here. He has not yet been indicted, and officials there are quoted as saying probably will not be until a definite turn is taken by the victim for the better or the worse.

Walker's lawyers say that the local negro is certain to be acquitted when his case comes to trial no matter what the outcome of young Robertson's wound. They say that public sentiment in Harrodsburg where the facts have become known, is largely with Walker, as they say, it has been admitted by many who were at the affair, that Walker had been attacked by a number of men and badly beaten.

Although he had a pistol on him, which, of course, his attorneys do not attempt to condone, they say that he did not attempt to draw it, but that an effort was made by the crowd that was after him, to take it out of his pocket; that then Walker caught the hand of one of the men, and the gun went off in the melee and young Robertson, who was some distance away from the fray and not mixed up in it, was accidentally hit.

RAILWAY WAGES MUST COME DOWN

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Jan. 27.—Members of the labor committee of the American Association of Railway Executives today are on their way here for a meeting Friday to discuss, with the United States Railway Labor Board, the possibility of wage reductions for employees of the leading railroads of the country. The executives are said to be ready to show that their properties are not earning the six per cent guaranteed by the transportation act.

WEST VIRGINIA MURDER TRIALS TO GO ON

(By Associated Press)
Williamson, W. Va., Jan. 27.—The trial of 24 men charged with participation in the famous Mat-cawan battle last May, will go on, Judge Bailey announced at the opening of circuit court today. He overruled a motion to quash the indictments for murder. Meanwhile deputy sheriffs guarded every entrance to the Mingo county court house to search for all arms carried by persons who sought to enter, and Col. Hall, commander of the federal troops in Williamson, took additional precautions to aid the civil authorities in preserving order.

SUES FOR HIGHER FARES

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Ky., Jan. 27.—The Louisville Street railway today filed suit in federal court asking an injunction against the city to restrain it from interfering with increased street railway fares, an ordinance authorizing which the city council recently turned down. A statement by President James Barnes says this action is taken as an alternative to curtailment of service consequent to handshakes on the public. The company has been asking an increase in fares to seven cents.

Value of Life Insurance

One day of thrift week, which was observed throughout the United States last week, was devoted to creation of greater interest in life insurance. It is probable that there are still a few persons who regard life insurance as "flying into the face of Providence," as some opponents of insurance protection have designated it, but insurance is now recognized as of such business value that persons of intelligence no longer make any pretense of opposition.

The business of promoting interest in insurance in its approved forms should not be left to those who are directly engaged in the selling of policies. It should be the desire of every person that his neighbor be amply protected from any loss that is avoidable, either through his death or because of accident or sickness.

Insurance constitutes a great mutual organization, in which its members undertake to protect each other against certain kinds of losses. No person considers himself a good business man if he neglects to protect his buildings or other property from complete loss by fire. Loss of the earning power of the individual because of death or incapacity should be guarded against as well.

Stockton's drug store is equipped with a large up-to-date and sanitary soda fountain. Over this fountain are served by courteous and painstaking attendants ice cream, soft drinks and refreshing beverages. This fountain is one of Richmond's most favorite meeting places.

The prescription department of the business is presided over by E. C. Stockton, who has been a graduate and registered druggist since 1909. He is assisted by J. P. Simer, who has had 18 years' experience as a druggist. These gentlemen make a specialty of accurate prescription work. The house has been particularly progressive in this department and now handles a large per cent of the business of this kind in this locality.

This enterprise was established 39 years ago and has enjoyed liberal and growing patronage. It is owned by R. C. Stockton, the present postmaster of Richmond, and his son, E. C. Stockton. These gentlemen own the two-story brick building in which the business is housed, and before recently occupying it had the store room remodeled and an elegant plate glass front installed. The fixtures in use in the store are made of solid mahogany and walnut and were constructed in this county 30 years ago. All stock is kept in dust-proof cases.

Cecilian Club

On Wednesday Mrs. Hale Deane was again hostess of the Cecilian Club instead of Mrs. A. R. Denny, who was detained on account of sickness in the family. Mrs. Denny's program, led by Mrs. Deane, was given as follows:

Roll Call—Famous tenors and their roles.

Song—The Little Dust Man—Brahms—Mrs. Planton.

Berceuse—Schytte—Mrs. McGaughey.

Voice—Boat Song—Harriett Ware—Miss Enright.

Berceuse—George F. Boyle—Mrs. McGowan.

Cello Solo—Berceuse from Jocelyn—Godard—Miss Josephine Telford.

Miss Telford at the piano.)

Current Events—Miss Helen Bennett.

The club was greatly pleased and highly honored to have with it a young professional, Mr. Webster Taylor, who is a pupil of Mrs. Denny, and has also gotten in some work at the College of Music, Cincinnati. Mr. Taylor was heard in a double number, the subject of which was in perfect accord with the afternoon's study. His interpretation of the Berceuse by Iljinsky was worthy of a concert pianist, and the brilliant rendition of the Polonaise, op. 40, No. 1, was after the true Chopinistic style.

The next meeting will be the occasion of the annual community program with Mrs. Paul Burnam as leader, at which time members from the various clubs of the local federation are expected to contribute the musical number. A business session of the federation is also held in connection with the recital.

LEGION NEWS

Declaring that the educational institutions of the United States are turning out graduates better versed in the history of Greece and Rome than is that of their own country, Henry J. Ryan, chairman of the Americanism of the American Legion, has announced the start of a Legion movement to make the study of American history and civics compulsory in all public and private schools.

The Legion's Commission, according to Mr. Ryan, proposes to work out its educational program through the various state departments. Legislation, outlined by National Headquarters, will be backed by the Legionnaires of the different states. Mr. Ryan said that, while study of American history and civics is more or less general, there are a number of schools in which the subjects are elective and from which a student may be graduated without knowledge of their essentials. It is to correct this situation that the Legion has acted.

Howard Tappen, an American Legion member of Perth Amboy, N. J., did not cast his bread upon the waters with the traditional return. He did, however, discard his overseas cap many months ago in France.

The other day, Tappen bought a renovated army cap in an army goods store. When he tried it on, he found the size to be just right. But when Tappen looked inside the hat, he was considerably perturbed. On the inner lining was his name, written in his own handwriting. The cap was the one he had discarded in France after the armistice.

"SERVICE CHARGE" OFF

GAS BILLS AFTER 1st
President Merrill, of the Richmond Water and Light Company, is announcing to his patrons that the "service charge" on gas bills will be eliminated after February 1st. This amounts to 50 cents a month on each bill. The charge of $3.25 per 1,000 feet of gas still will remain in effect. The Daily Register has been told that this is the highest rate for gas charged in this or any other state. Mr. Merrill says that a further reduction in the price of gas will be made as soon as conditions will permit.

CONSTANCE BINNEY

REALART PICTURES

Constance Binney, the Realart star, who appears in Richmond Friday in "39 East," first won applause of the public as a dancer in "Oh, Lady, Lady." She has several opportunities to dance in her new picture, as she had in the "Stolen Kiss." The first dance that she executes in "39 East" is a typical darky jig, done on the rug of her humble boarding house room to the accompaniment of "Dirie," whistled by herself. This is done when the heroine is supposed to be suffering from homesickness, and though it starts in a slow, forced way, it ends in a whirlwind of kicks. The next dance is executed on the grass at Central Park to the music of an organ grinder. This time the heroine is in the ecstasies of joy and she dances with abandon, a "jazzy" wild dance.

Included in the cast that supports the beautiful Hope Hampton in her first screen production as a star, "A Modern Salome," which is the feature attraction her tonight, are Wyndham and Percy Standing, seasoned actors of the stage and screen, who have been popular favorites for a considerable time. Wyndham Standing was born and educated in England and appeared there in companies with Sir Henry Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall and Miss Fortescue. He came to this country and had a successful stage career when he turned to the screen and appeared as leading man for Elsie Ferguson, Pauline Frederick and Petrova. Recently he appeared with Norma Talmadge in "The Isle of Conquest" and with Lucy Cotton in "The Miracle of Love."

J. Warren Kerrigan's latest picture—"The House of Whispers"—a gripping mystery play, will be at the local houses Saturday. It is undoubtedly one of the finest picture-Kerrigan ever made and well adapted to his romantic type. He is seen in the role of an adventure loving young club man who undertakes to solve a baffling mystery.

Photoplay Glimpses of Greenwich Village
Greenwich Village, that community in lower New York, which is hailed as the habitat of long-haired men and short-haired women, is one of the localities depicted in "A Modern Salome," starring Hope Hampton. Hope Hampton Productions, Inc. presents Miss Hampton in "A Modern Salome," and Metro is releasing the picture. Director Perret, besides directing the production wrote the story, which was suggested by Oscar Wilde's dramatic poem, "Salome." Richard Strauss wrote the opera around the same poem. JIM PARK A REAL STAR IN ATHLETICS

Lexington Herald Reviews His Career Upon His Retirement To Enter Law

A recent issue of the Lexington Herald had the following about a mighty popular Richmond boy:

James Park, coach of football, basketball and baseball at Transylvania College since 1918, has notified the authorities of the school that he will not be available for athletic services after the present school term closes early in June, 1921. Coach Park has formed a law partnership with Zeb. A. Stewart, with offices in the Fayette National bank building, and will devote his time after June 1 to the practice of law. His contract with Transylvania expires at that time.

Coach Park's withdrawal from the local athletic world marks the disappearance of one of its real stars. His career in college was sensational in three branches of sport, baseball furnishing his best element, while in football and basketball he was one of the brightest stars at the University of Kentucky for three years. His career in professional baseball began on May 23, 1911, when, hailed as the "boy wonder," he lived up to the reputation he had made so early by going into the box for the Richmond club of the Blue Grass League and pitching a no-hit, no-run game against the Maysville Pioneers.

Strange to relate, his last game as well as first in professional baseball was also a no-hit, no-run game. This anti-climax of his baseball career came with a no-hit, no-run, no-first base game for the Drumright, Okla., club of the Western Association against the Fort Smith nine in the closing game of the association's schedule last summer.

Park began to accumulate his "wonder boy" titles when he was attending the Model high school of the Richmond State Normal. He finished the course there years and played on the football, basketball and baseball teams each year. He came to the University of Kentucky in 1911 and made all three teams in his first year. He was declared ineligible for athletic work in 1912 and 1913, however, on account of his participation in the Richmond-Maysville game that started his professional baseball life. Park had refused to be paid for his services in that contest.

The next year the ban was taken off and he went back onto the gridiron, the court and the diamond. He was captain of the football and baseball teams of the University in his senior year. In the last football game of his college athletic career, the annual Thanksgiving contest with the Tennessee Volunteers in 1914, he broke his right arm and was unable to play basketball.

He joined the Lexington club of the Ohio State League in the summer of 1915, won six straight games, and was sold to the St. Louis Browns, going to that club on August 23. He led the league in pitching for the remainder of the season, winning three games and losing none. He also batted for an average of .400. The first man he pitched to in a major league was Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland Indians, who was killed by a pitched ball last season.

In this same game, with score tied in the eleventh inning and the bases full, he hit a two-bagger and became a hero of St. Louis fans.

He was assistant football coach at the University of Kentucky in 1916, when the Wildcats lost only one game.

Park spent the next summer with the Browns, but his arm had gone bad, and he failed to continue to make the sensational showing of his first year with the majors. He went back to the Browns the next year, won one game and lost one, and was traded to Omaha of the Western League. After the season there he was again assistant coach at Kentucky. During the winter he was sold to the Columbus Senators. For this club he won seven games and lost three up to July 15, 1918, when he was called to the service with the aviation branch of the United States army.

When he returned from the service in the fall of 1918 he took his position as coach at Transylvania, which he has held up to the present time. During the last three summers he has been traded from one to another of the minor league clubs. He was sold by Columbus to Kansas City of the Western League, then to Oklahoma City. He started the summer of 1920 with Oklahoma City, but was traded to Drumright and there finished his baseball career with the second no-run, no-hit game of his life.

He is now coaching the basketball squad of Transylvania, and will be mentor for the baseball team in the spring, after which he will take no active part in athletics of any kind. His successor has not been chosen.

SENSATIONAL LEGAL BATTLE AT HARLAN

Little Mountain Town Scene of Trial of Dr. Winnes Charged With Brutal Murder

(By Associated Press)

Harlan, Ky., Jan. 27.—Hemmed in by the hazy outlines of the Cumberland Mountains and with the Cumberland river flowing through its confines, this little mountain city this week is the center of one of the most sensational murder trials in the history of Kentucky. Fighting for his life before a jury selected from the mountaineers of the Kentucky-Virginia border, is Dr. H. C. Winnes, formerly a member of the state veterinarian force, and prior to that time an official in the city of Cincinnati, O., charged with the murder of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain settlement school teacher.

In the little court room from which on one side may be seen Black Mountain, its peaks tipped with coal tips, and on the other Pine Mountain, the best legal talent obtainable is fighting for and against Dr. Winnes. The prosecution, besides J. Grant Forrester, district attorney, and his brother, J. B. Forrester, county attorney of Harlan county, has on its side A. Floyd Byrd, of Lexington, the man who prosecuted the Breathitt county feudist several years ago, sending Curt Jett, Beach Hargis, and Tom White to the penitentiary for life. For Dr. Winnes, former Circuit Judge W. C. Hall, of Harlan, is leading the fight with the assistance of his partners, B. C. Jones and E. Lee, and the famous Col. Bob Franklin, of Frankfort.

Sitting with the attorneys for the prosecution is Walter Parsons, of Berea father of the slain teacher, and Mrs. Ethel DeLong Zande, principal of the Pine Mountain Settlement School. Besides Dr. Winnes is his wife and his daughters, Ethel and Mildred, and his brother, L. Winnes, of Cincinnati.

When the trial opened sentiment in the community was widely divided. Many persons openly expressed their belief that Dr. Winnes did not commit the crime, while others took the opposite view.

For the evidence in the case is wholly circumstantial. The body of Miss Parsons was found at the foot of a bluff, beside the trail from Dillon, Ky., to the school, fifteen minutes walk from a state convict camp. Her skull was crushed and the body mutilated by the slayer.

Miss Parsons had been at her home in Berea and left Dillon on September 7, 1920, for the school a few minutes before Dr. Winnes. She was on foot and Dr. Winnes rode a mule. Miss Parsons was seen to pass the convict camp. This was the last seen of her until her body was found two days later by a searching party.

With the finding of the body an investigation was started. This resulted in several guards at the convict camp being discharged for alleged laxty, assertions being made that convicts were allowed to roam about the mountainside at will and unguarded. It was asserted that two convicts followed Miss Parsons up the trail but this was never definitely established.

The investigation apparently was lagging but Mrs. Zande, principal of the school insisted that the slayer be found. The September grand jury failed to return any indictments but later Dr. Winnes and a convict were arrested and an examining trial held. The grand jury on January 11 indicted Dr. Winnes, the charge being based entirely on circumstantial evidence.

Dr. Winnes has steadfastly denied committing the crime and asserts that he became confused regarding the course of the trail and that this accounts for time during which the prosecution maintains the crime was committed.

3 TRAINMEN ARE CHARGED WITH BREAKING INTO CAR

Danville, Ky., Jan. 27.—C. E. Manscomb, R. C. Clark and W. R. Walters, employees of the Southern railway, who were arrested Wednesday at Somerset on the charge of breaking into a freight car, appeared before U. S. Commissioner W. S. Lawwill in this city for a hearing. The men were held over to the federal court at Jackson, Breathitt county, the cases coming up at that court March 7. Manscomb, who is a conductor, was held on bond of $5,000, which he gave. The other men, brakemen, were held in the sum of $4,000, which they failed to give. They are in the Danville jail.

SUFFERED ALL A WOMAN COULD

Mrs. Meyer Finally Found Relief and Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Orange, Cal.—"I always feel very grateful to you, as some twenty years ago three doctors said I had to have a serious operation. I had a tumor, and ulcers which would gather and break. I had displacement so badly that I could hardly sit down at times, and it seemed as if I suffered everything that a woman could suffer. Then some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I took it until I was cured and saved from the operation. I have told women of your wonderful medicine times without number, and I am willing that you should use these facts and my name if you like. I also used your Compound during the Change, and I can do all my own work but the heavy part, and can walk miles every day as I help my husband in the office."

—Mrs. J. H. Meyer, 412 South Orange St., Orange, California.

It is quite true that such troubles as Mrs. Meyer had may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource. On the other hand, a great many women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TO ASSIST LOCAL INCOME TAXPAYERS

Revenue Man To Be Here Feb. 28-March 2 and Daily Register Will Explain the Law

An internal revenue tax man will be in Richmond from February 28 to March 2 to assist local income tax payers in making out their returns for the past year, according to announcement by Internal Revenue Collector Elwood Hamilton this week. Special Deputy Tevis Hugueley has been here off and on for the past couple of months straightening out the returns of many who were lax or negligent in preparing their figures, and he has proven of much assistance to many. Then, too, Special Deputy Arthur Hill, of Stanford, came up to go over the income figures of one or two big business men, with which the department was not exactly satisfied.

The announcement from Collector Hamilton says that this service, which is without cost to the taxpayer, is primarily for the benefit of persons who do not understand the income tax law, and to make it convenient and easy for them to make their returns and pay to the government the tax assessed.

To assist many of its readers, the Daily Register has asked Col.

R. C. Oldham to prepare for publication in the form of questions and answers many of the problems and fine points of the income tax law, as it affects the ordinary taxpayer. These will start tomorrow.

The dates upon which deputy collectors will be at towns in this section of the state are as follows: Beattyville, February 22-23; Berea, February 26; Booneville, February 23; Corbin, February 21-23-24; Danville, sub-office open daily; Harrodsburg, Feb. 17-18-19; Hazard, February 18-19; Hindman, February 15; Irvine, Feb. 15-16-17-18-19; Jackson, Feb. 28, Mar. 1; Lancaster, February 23-24; Lawrenceburg, Feb. 14-15-16; Lexington Division office open daily.

High Commissioner Praises Near East Relief

Constantinople: Everybody seems to have a good word to say for the wonderful work being done by the more than 500 American men and women workers of the Near East Relief. In a public address, Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, U. S. Navy, High Commissioner to Turkey, who has charge of all American interests in the Near East, went on record wholeheartedly in support of the American relief organization.

"If I have been able to encourage the workers of the Near East Relief or give them assistance in any way," the Admiral said, "I feel that I am more than repaid in keeping with the success that has attended the efforts of the Near East Relief Committee in this part of the world in the past. I hope the future will bring you greater success. It will always give me pleasure to render any assistance possible to the Committee as a whole, to any of the workers, and to the great work of humanity that the committee represents."

When 130,000 Russian refugees from the Crimea arrived off Constantinople, Admiral Bristol immediately called the Near East Relief for help, and the Near East Relief bakeries fed these refugees and N. E. R. workers helped the American sailors to get the sick to hospitals.

Admiral Bristol is in intimate touch with all the work being conducted by the Near East Relief and speaks from personal knowledge of its accomplishments.

INVESTIGATOR INDORSES NEAR EAST RELIEF

During the Peace Conference in Paris the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, appreciating the importance of accurate, first hand information about the Armenian situation, sent Capt. Benjamin Burges Moore of the American Red Cross as head of a special mission to study and report on conditions. Captain Moore's findings as to the value of the work done by the Near East Relief form part of his official report.

"Armenians are sincerely grateful to us," Captain Moore states, "since it is no exaggeration to say that they would have disappeared as a nation had it not been for this splendid help given them by the Near East Relief and the American Food Administration. The best that sympathetic Americans can do is to continue and enlarge the present admirable work of the Near East Relief."

'HANGMAN'S TREE' HAD QUITE AN HISTORY

Somebody wrote a nice story in the city papers the other day about an old tree falling up in the Berea section of this county. Here's the tale:

Old landmarks continue to disappear. Coincident with the death of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, leader of the Hatfield-McCoy feud comes the report that the "Hangman's Tree," a monument to the old days, has succumbed to the ravages of time. The "Hangman's Tree," well known in the Berea, Madison county, locality, is in the Dixie Highway. It has stood for centuries. It has one large and straight limb, well foliaged in the pioneer days, sheltered Boone and his band of adventurers. In the days immediately following the Civil war the gruesome suggestiveness of this monarch of the forest came to be identified with scenes and happening really in keeping with its name. Certain clans had this place as their rendezvous; new members while the pale moon trickled through the foliage laid their hands on the standard and solemnly swore allegiance. And it is held that in the darkness of the night shrieks and groans and pleadings for mercy often were heard to mingle themselves with the sighing of the pines and the rocking of the vast oaks. But years have gone by since law and order were established by means of force in these Kentucky hills and valleys. No longer does the masked rider gallop through our midst. Peace and good will to all men have come under the new regime and one by one the now loved and revered traces of the past are falling away.

ROOSTER'S CROW SPOILS THE FIGHT

Canton, O., Jan. 27—A lusty young rooster who simply couldn't resist the temptation to crow, put the quietus Tuesday night on what was to have been the biggest cock fight ever held in this section of the state in recent years, and disappointed more than one hundred fans who had gathered from Alliance, Massillon, Akron and Pittsburg.

Everything was set for the big event when two automobiles loaded with deputy sheriffs landed at Meyers' Lake Park and started a systematic search of the grounds. After hunting over a greater part of the park the officers were about to give up the expedition when the faint but unmistakable crow of a rooster came to their ears from the vicinity of the old ball park.

The building in which the fights were to have been held was cleverly concealed from outside observation. Not a light showed and it was with difficulty that the officers the deputies entered but no attempt to escape was made as the fight had not yet started.

Inside the building had been constructed a real arena for a real gladiatorial contest. In the center of the room was a pit 18 feet square lighted almost as well as a prize ring. Ranged around the pit were seats for more than 300 spectators and twelve fighting cocks. Those in charge told the officers that the work on the building had required four weeks to complete. No arrests were made by the officers.

Mrs. Jefferson Stone, of Nicholasville, is here to see Mrs. Houston Stone, who is recovering from a serious surgical operation.

The NEW EDISON

The Phonograph with a Soul

What Edison did during the War

THE official announcement is out. Ask us for your copy of "What Edison Did During the War." Write for it, if you can't call.

It tells how Edison left his home and business and went to sea, how Edison's "Yankee magic" foiled the German submarines.

The bulletin tells many other things Edison did while Chairman of the Naval Consulting Board. It explains how Edison kept the price of his phonograph at bed rock during an era of high costs and soaring prices. Since 1914 the New Edison has advanced in price less than 15%—and part of this is war tax.

This bulletin also describes the Budget Plan, which makes it possible for every home to enjoy the benefits of good music without feeling the financial outlay.

He asserted he intended to work "without fear of favor" to the end that any obstruction to the building and housing situation may be entirely eliminated and all violators of the law be speedily punished. He already has under consideration a great mass of evidence.

Uncle Walt's Story

PLEASURE OF GIVING

"SKIMBACK, the banker, is acquiring quite a reputation as a philanthropist," observed the druggist. "He's always giving to somebody or something, and I notice that the sickening details always get into print. He believes in keeping his left hand posted as to what his right hand is doing, and nobody ever will see him concealing any of his lights under a bushel."

"I'm sorry to hear you refer to that great and good man in sarcastic terms," said the village patriarch. "Every day I hear similar remarks concerning him, and I think it a poor appreciation of his generosity. As you say, he's always giving, and it's a small business to look a gift horse in the mouth, as the psalmist says. If he hires a man with a megaphone to announce his benefactions, he isn't hurting anybody."

"Caustic things are said of every philanthropist who manages to get some advertising out of his liberality, but it's my opinion that you'll have to hunt a long time, with a searchlight and a pair of gumshoes, before you find the man who enjoys doing good by stealth. If you do find him, he will prove to be a freak, and it will be your duty to see him returned to the asylum from which he escaped."

"We are all more or less hungry for the approbation of our friends and fellow citizens. And I am glad it's so. If we didn't care three whops what our friends thought of us, we wouldn't paint our houses, or mow our lawns, or trim our whiskers. We wouldn't spend any money for flowers or boiled shirts or any of the things which make life beautiful and attractive. If a man spends a lot of money for a gorgeous lawn, with real trees and expensive flowers, and all sorts of ornaments, he's doing it because he wants to be praised by the people who see it all. You don't see any such lawns in some rural districts. There the front yard always is a calf pasture."

"The farmer reasons that it's no use having a pretty lawn, for there's nobody to admire it. Nobody ever goes past the place except an occasional lightning rod agent or a man who is taking orders for fruit trees."

"Why don't you sneer at the town man who puts so much money into beautiful grounds? It's all a grandstand play. He expects to get advertising out of it, and he does, and he deserves it. We shouldn't criticize any man who is doing good, even if we don't like his methods."

"Some people say that Skimback is trying to atone for all the sinfulness of his past career. It is argued that until recent years he never gave away anything, but was after the dollars by day and night, and didn't care who got hurt so he overlooked and captured them. They tell of mortgages he foreclosed, causing unrepentant suffering here and there. He is accused of resorting to every dark trick to increase his hoard. Most of the stories probably are bunk, but what if they are true? Now that he shows signs of repentance in his old age we should encourage him in every possible way, and if he gives a photograph to the high school, or puts up a public drinking fountain in the public square, we should tell him he's everybody's darling, and not dig up a lot of ancient history for his confusion."

"I haven't much money to give away, but when I do loosen up to the extent of a dollar or two I like to have an audience. I like to imagine that people are saying, 'What a great-hearted, benevolent old geezer he is!' The other morning a man approached me and asked me to contribute something toward putting a new steeple on the church, and I began to explain that church steeples are out of date, when he interrupted to say that the names of all contributors would be printed in the paper, and then I dug up $5 without further words. And we're all tarred with the same stick, my friends."
